We are excited to announce that our new journal Advanced Physics Research is now open for submissions!

Advanced Physics Research is an open-access journal that covers the whole gamut of physics from applied to fundamental studies with a strong emphasis on important and relevant topics. As a new flagship physics journal, Advanced Physics Research aims to bridge the gap between the materials science and physics communities, remaining faithful to the core values of the physics community, and covering topics beyond those currently published in the well-recognized Advanced Materials journal.
